REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION IS OPENED

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
CLEVELAND, June 9.—This is the eleventh national political convention I have had the pleasure of attending. (Pleasure not always unmixed with pain, I should add when I recall 1912!) In one respect this gathering resembles the Kansas City meeting of 1928. That year at this stage Mr. Hoover was as sure that he would be nominated as Mr. Landon is now.

The "stop Landon" drive today, while reported to be on the wane, still gives forth sounds suggestive of the grinding of gears and the whirring of wheels. But so did the movement to stop Hoover, up to the time of his nomination.

In the Chicago convention of 1920 the bosses from the East were out in front. It is history that a long distance call to Mr. Boies Penrose in Pennsylvania preceded the nomination of Mr. Harding. From this convention the long distance wires lead westward; not to the East. The telephones are busy, but the persons on the distant ends are talking from Topeka, Wichita, and points west and southwest.

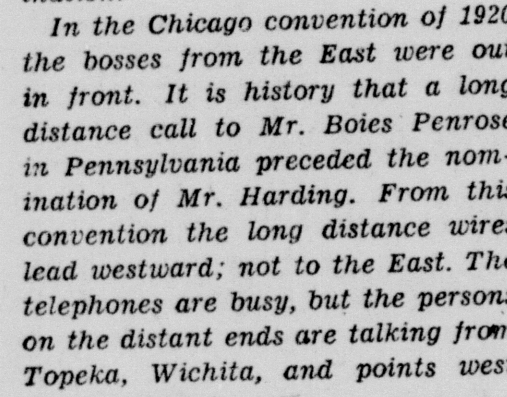

The men from the typical prairie states are in the saddle, and it's a Western saddle, at that.

The plank proposing a constitutional amendment for state regulation of hours and wages is put forward, not by a social worker from the textile mill area of New England, but by a small town editor, Mr. William Allen White, of Emporia, Kansas. There isn't a factory in Emporia that wouldn't be scored by Lawrence, Mass., but Mr. White demonstrates to the party that all kinds of good ideas may come out of the West, and that the new control has a national point of view.

If anyone had said a few days ago that the Republican convention would be considering such a constitutional amendment he would have been laughed down.

The nine learned members of the supreme court are not in politics, but they provide plenty of political activity for the rest of us.

ALICE LONGWORTH.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Because of the severe winter, many people believed that the Mexican beetle would not be much in evidence this year, but they're beginning to put in their appearance in large numbers, one of Pa Newc's family noticed last evening.

For the old sights department: A group of youngsters, nine in number, helping to push a stalled automobile down Howard alley, South Side.

Pa Newc is informed that west and north of the city the rainstorm of yesterday afternoon was much heavier than downtown. Even the northern end of the city got a deluge that wasn't experienced in the downtown section.

Apple and pear trees in this section are being attacked by a blight, known as fire blight, which causes the leaves to curl up and turn black, as if seared by a flame. The disease (Continued On Page Two)

LANDON ASKED TO PRESENT VIEWS

Leaders Survey Possible Candidates For Second Place On Ticket

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Discouraged in their efforts to prevent the nomination of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas—now considered almost a certainty on the first ballot—the opposition centered its fire today upon framing a platform to its peculiar liking.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, who has declined the job of spear-heading the anti-Landon movement, challenged the Kansas governor to make his position more clear concerning the proposed monetary plank in the platform.

Ask Landon Views

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, who also declined the job of leading the opposition, invited Gov. Landon to state his views on a number of subjects.

Both Borah and Vandenberg tacitly conceded that Gov. Landon is "in" for the Republican presidential nomination. Their efforts now, and during the rest of the week, apparently are to be devoted to drawing out the successful candidate on where he stands with respect to planks in which they have a particular interest.

In the case of Borah, these planks are three in number:

1. Foreign affairs. Senator Borah, and to a lesser extent Senator Vandenberg, is a complete isolationist. He opposes American membership in the League of Nations and American adherence to the World Court. He opposes, too, the reciprocal trade treaties which Cordell Hull has negotiated as Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of state.
2. Monopoly. Senator Borah feels strongly on this subject. Given the kind of an anti-monopoly plank he wants, and Senator Borah says he will stand for "almost anybody" for the nomination.
3. Money. Senator Borah will fight to the end against a return to what he terms "the rigid gold" (Continued On Page Two)

Freak Storm In Pittsburgh Area Costs One Life

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 9.—After hitting this vicinity with an intensity approaching near-cyclonic proportions, a freak storm today left one dead and thousands of dollars damage in its wake.

Two houses were wrecked by lightning, and 18-year-old John Terak, a caddy, was killed by a lightning bolt on the Shannopin golf course. Cellars were flooded in many sectors, streets took on an appearance mindful of the recent disastrous floods, being left wreckage-strewn and muddy when sewers backed up, unable to take the abnormally heavy water flow.

Stop Roosevelt His Movement

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, June 9.—Patrick J. Hurley of Oklahoma, who was secretary of war under President Herbert Hoover, today had a quick answer to quizzical reporters who asked whether he was here to "stop Landon."

"Stop Landon?" the tall Oklahoman queried back with a smile, "why would I join a 'stop Landon' movement? I'm already in a 'stop' movement—a stop Roosevelt movement."

JOHN M. LANDON AND PEGGY ANNE LANDON

Two members of the Landon family were present for the opening of the Republican national convention at Cleveland. The two, shown on their arrival in the convention city, are Peggy Anne Landon, 18-year-old daughter of Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, and John M. Landon, the governor's father.

News Man Gives More Observations At G.O.P. Convention

(By News Special Correspondent)
CLEVELAND, O., June 9.—A kindly fate saved a lot of Pennsylvania delegates from possible injury Monday night. A connecting rod in the driving mechanism of the engine pulling the special train, broke near Ravenna, O., and the train might easily have derailed. At it was the delegation was late and the caucus planned for 9 o'clock Monday night was postponed until Tuesday afternoon at 3.

Around Pennsylvania headquarters looked like Harrisburg at inauguration time, that is a Republican inauguration time. Henry P. Fletcher, national chairman of Greencastle, Pa., was there meeting old friends and scores of other men whose names make the front page from time to time. General Edward Martin, Auditor-General Frank E. Baldwin, Senator Mason Owlett, Nevin Dietrich, Johnny McGarvey of Philadelphia, former U. S. Senator David A. Reed, Senator Morris Einstein of Pittsburgh, and the list runs on into scores.

New Castle was well represented. Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz, County Chairman Roger V. Rowland, Delegate C. H. Young, W. D. Walton, Major Guy J. Wadlinger, James A. Rugh, Harold Heck, Jack M. Dunlap, Charles Gee, were a few who could be seen fanning with the mob in the corridor. And looking them over with a caricaturist's eye was Cy Hungerford.

Tuesday night was newspaper night aboard the SS Moses Cleveland, an old ship which has been converted into a swanky night club at the East Ninth street dock. There was at least 50 yards of tables piled high with delicacies and somebody's bank roll took a healthy nick to pay for it all. Joe Graham, a former New Castle newspaper man, now in publicity work in Cleveland, was aboard.

The treat was on the Great Lakes Exposition which opens June 27 and after the food and entertainment given the scribes they carried away a good opinion. One of the two men back of the exposition is a New Castle man, Almon R. Shaffer, formerly of Pearson street. If you were in New Castle high school about 1906 you remember Shaffer as the promoter of the old time school minstrel shows.

One young Kansas lady created several near riots Tuesday evening when she arrived at the convention. Her name—Peggy Ann Landon, of Topeka, Kansas, and it's her father you hear all the fuss about.

Back of the Landon boom has been a fine sense of showmanship in addition to political strategy. They simply covered the convention like a tent with Landon signs, Landon buttons, Landon bands, and the rival camps never got properly started. And on the streets you hear people humming the song which has been adopted as the Landon song, "Oh Susanna."

"Can you scare me up a ticket?" has become the convention gag line. The answer is no but that doesn't stop thousands from asking. Tickets are scarier than kind words for the Democrats around the convention headquarters. And another thing (Continued On Page Two)

LAWRENCE, Kas., June 9.—Gov. Alf Landon left a message of encouragement and hope with the graduating class of the University of Kansas in delivering the traditional governor's message to the students here last night.

The leading contestant for the Republican nomination for president, in giving the commencement address, declared:

"I do not believe that America has come to the end of individual opportunity and I would like to have you share that conviction with me."

America Must Decide

Declaring that some of the other countries of the world are headed from democracy and freedom, Gov. Landon said America will have to decide whether the "retreat of civilization shall spread to our own country."

Billions For Arms; Nothing For U. S.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 9.—While Europe spent billions arming as it has never armed before in peacetime, Uncle Sam today faced a loss of more than one and a half billion dollars on the debts the European nations owe this government as a consequence of the last war.

A total of $1,160,122,766.65 is due Uncle Sam Monday from the debtor nations.

Of that amount, this government stands to receive only an infinitesimal fraction of one percent—$164,315.50 from Finland, the only European debtor nation which has consistently met its obligations in full and in cash.

As to the others, Great Britain led the way for another general default by serving notice that it still considered the situation "unchanged" since its note of June 4, 1934.

It was in that note that Great Britain, ignoring its traditional reputation for honesty in meeting its debts, served notice it had no intention of resuming payments unless there was a new settlement, and joined France and the other debt defaulting nations of Europe.

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Out of the twilight of the bosses rises the star of Landon. As the Republican national convention meets for its first session the surprising Kansan, whose very name is dispelling the gloom of defeatism, commands an undoubted majority of the delegates. It should be Landon on the first ballot. It's impossible to reject that conclusion as the convention gets under way.

One by one the little boomlets of his rivals are losing their gas—the Borah boomlet, the Knox boomlet, the Dickinson boomlet. The anti-Landon coalition died a-borning. Platform Building Is Big Problem Before Convention Prior To Nominations

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

AUDITORIUM, CLEVELAND, O., June 9.—The Republican national convention disposed of the preliminaries today in a brief 45-minute session, and paved the way to get down to the real business of naming a presidential candidate and giving him a platform on which to stand.

In session only three-quarters of an hour, the convention set up a temporary organization, with Senator Frederic Steiwer of Oregon, as chairman, and then recessed until 8 o'clock tonight when the delegates will return to the auditorium to hear the Oregon senator's speech key-noting the campaign.

AUDITORIUM, CLEVELAND, O., June 9.—Leaving the statesmen and big-wigs to battle over candidacies and platform planks in steaming hotel rooms, the 1,003 delegates to the Republican National Convention assembled in Cleveland's magnificent auditorium today for perhaps the quietest opening session in the party's history.

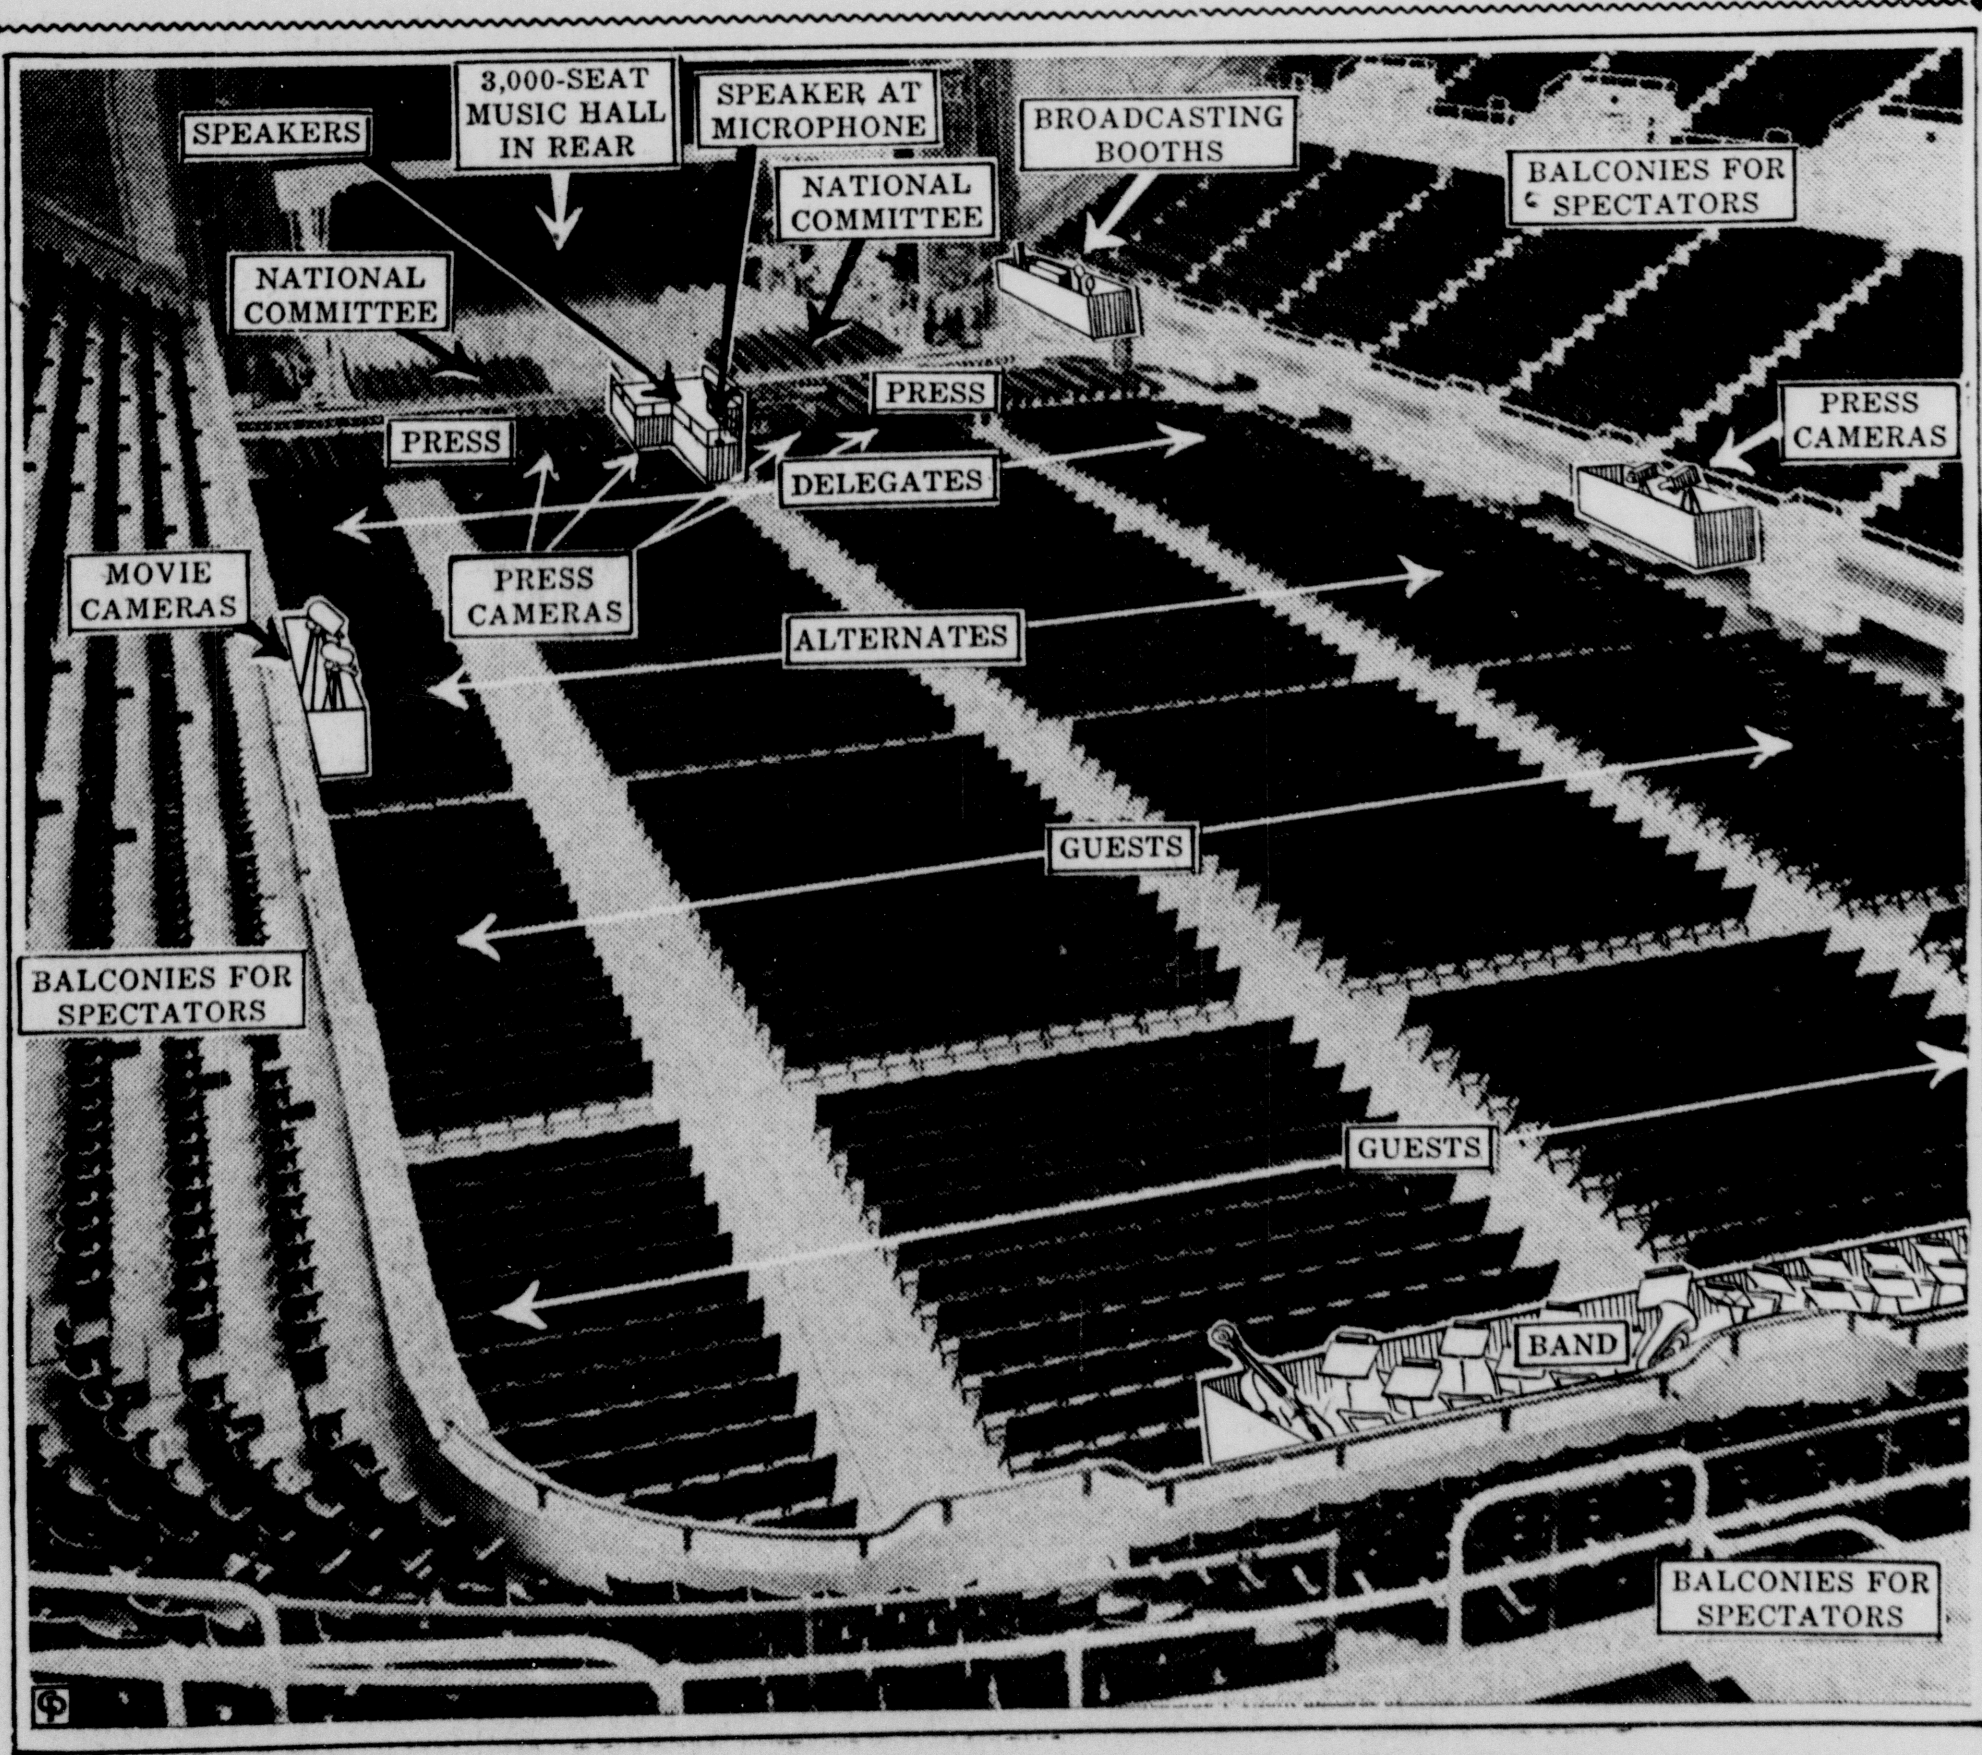

Forewarned there would be no fireworks—not even the usual whoopla keynote speech—the delegates and alternates stayed away in large numbers, preferring to delay their appearance until tonight when Senator Frederic Steiwer, of Oregon, will do a lot of pointing with pride and viewing with alarm in his kick-off speech.

Landon Managers Satisfied

While the delegates trooped to the auditorium, the managers of Gov. Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, continued their ceaseless checking and re-checking of figures and seemed satisfied with the results of their arithmetic. Everything continued to point to the nomination of the Kansan on the first ballot, when the convention finally gets around to the business of balloting, which probably will be Thursday night or Friday morning.

They want to build a platform for the candidate to stand upon. That may take considerable doing and (Continued On Page Two)

The din and the blare and the hoop-le-doo, the old buildup and the ballyhoo, are on in the usual four year manner and the song they are playing is "Oh Susanna". There was a day when they made things hum with that "California Here I Come" and later saw the bands uncork, that lyrical "Side-walks of New York." But this is the time when "Susanna" comes through, along with the other ballyhoo, and the bugles play and the snare drums roar as they work on that old time pioneer score, "Oh Susanna" is what they play as the big show opens, its ninety today. . .

Southern Minnesota Farmers Work In Fields Carrying Shotguns

POSSE TRAILING FUGITIVE GANG

(International News Service)
ST. PETER, Minn., June 9.—Southern Minnesota farmers worked their fields with shotguns resting in the crooks of their arms today as police officers and national guardsmen scoured the Minnesota river bottom lands for 10 maniacal convicts who, with six others, escaped from the state hospital for the insane here Sunday night.

The fugitives include four convicted killers. Lawrence De Vol, Barker-Karpis gangster and leader of the bold break, and five companions were believed to have crossed into Iowa. A car they commandeered was reported to have been found abandoned near Elmore, just above the Iowa-Minnesota line.

Robbery of fishing shacks at Swan Lake, 15 miles west of here, intensified the search in the river lowlands. Militiamen, armed with machine guns, joined state crime bureau operatives, county and city officers, asylum guards, highway police and volunteer possemen in the manhunt. It was feared the desperadoes may have secured arms in the fishing shack robberies.

Two of the criminals were recaptured shortly after the break and four were taken yesterday. All were inmates of the ward for the criminally insane.

these views presupposes we have reached the end of the road in this national development. Now, this is not a particularly new view. Henry Adams wrote years ago, that over the last two centuries, men frequently believed that a stationary period was near.

Belief Current In Early 1890's
"The same belief was current in the early 1890's. Our business expansion up to then had been largely created by an expanding western frontier.

"Then, as now, some said that we had come to a halt and that opportunity would be less in the future than in the past. But our people had faith in themselves and in the country's future, and they quickened that faith with works. A new era was opened up.

"This new era brought on many mistakes, many inequalities, and many sins of omission and commission. But in spite of its mistakes and inequalities it nevertheless produced the most widespread prosperity the world has ever known, with more new things coming within the reach of the average man than ever before."

standard." By that, he means a return to the gold basis that preceded the New Deal. There can be, said Borah, no return to that basis. There are "strong and resourceful men in this convention," he said, "that are seeking a return to the gold standard of the Hoover administration which he termed a money monopoly. Such a monetary standard, Borah said, does not supply money for the people, but it does supply money for the bankers and the speculators.

And he invited Gov. Landon as the leading candidate for the nomination to make his position clear. The Borah statement had reference to reports that Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury under Hoover, was writing the monetary plank. Senator Borah did not mention Mills by name, but the inference in his statement was plain. In the writing of the Mills plank, Winthrop W. Aldrich of the Chase National bank is reputed to have collaborated.

See Battle Over Money Plank
The fighting over the money plank in the convention promises to be bitter—unless Borah has his way. He is opposed by almost all of the so-called conservative east, which only makes his opposition the stronger. The east was cold to Borah's presidential candidacy, principally because of his monetary views, which has made him all the more determined to force and incorporate those views into the platform.

The Idaho senator is the enigma of the Republican convention. A week ago, in Washington, he declared he was not so much interested in the platform as in candidates, for he insisted that the candidate really was the platform. Transferring his activities to Cleveland, Senator Borah said today that the platform really was his main interest in the Republican convention, that he was interested in principles rather than in men. Of such inconsistencies is Senator Borah made.

Nevertheless, Senator Borah is the prima donna of the Cleveland convention. Just as he was twelve years ago when he told Calvin Coolidge he would not accept the vice-presidential nomination which Coolidge wished to bestow upon him instead of Charles G. Dawes.

Borah And Vandenberg Take Walk
When the shaggy-haired Idahoan and the sartorial Vandenberg decided to take a walk—literally—about the streets of Cleveland last night, they created a sensation. Gaping crowds watched their exit from the Cleveland hotel on their walk, and several hundred persons followed them for blocks before they tumbled to the apparent fact that it was really just a walk.

A reporter asked Vandenberg: "Is it true that Borah is going to throw his strength to you?"

"No comment," said the Michigan senator.

Borah was asked the same question in a somewhat different way. "No," he said. "I'm still a candidate."

Both Borah and Vandenberg, however, have both given up hope of stopping the nomination of Gov. Landon. They have common cause only in the adoption of the platform—in which, incidentally, they do not see eye to eye. Their joint interest is only in seeing Landon stopped and, failing in that, they have little left in common.

Look For Vice President Candidate
The Michigan Senator finally convinced the Landon people today that he is not interested in the vice presidency. They took him at his word and started looking around for someone else to fill the bill. They didn't bother with Senator Borah, for the Idaho senator has made it plain from the outset he was not interested in second place. Calvin Coolidge once offered him "a place on the ticket." That was in 1924. Borah's reply to that offer was: "Which place, Mr. President?" That ended that.

Vice presidential talk today continued to swirl around ex-senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, and Col. George N. Peek, one-time administrator of the AAA under the Roosevelt new deal. There was some talk of Senator Fred Steiwer, of Oregon, but judgment was reserved on him until it can be seen what kind of a keynoter he makes tonight.

The principal objection to Steiwer is that as vice presidential candidate he might have a difficult time defending his own record against the new deal, for the Republican keynoters voted for most of the new deal acts which have since been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. On the other hand, Edge is an easterner who has the confidence and regard of the eastern leaders, while Peek is a "reformed" new dealer who has been mercilessly exposing its shortcomings.

The convention met today for a brief routine session. After the opening song and the transaction of necessary business, it was to recess until tonight when Senator Steiwer was scheduled to get it officially under way with his keynote speech.

SAYS OLD ELEPHANT BEING TRANSFORMED

with the melancholy debris of the Borah stage coach, the Knox limousine and the Dickinson flivver.

Delegates Rule
The reason is crystal clear. This convention belongs to the delegates, not to the bosses and state leaders. Such independence and sturdy individualism are operating here as we have not seen in a Republican conclave in a generation. The attempted coalition against Landon never even got started because state leaders found they could not control their own delegations. Dickinson of Iowa found that out when he went to the Hawkeye boys and begged them to join the stop Landon movement. Borah of Idaho found it out when his friends tried to get the Idaho delegates to line up against Landon indefinitely. Not a single state leader, trying to work the old-time shenanigans and skull-dugger got farther than the length of his nose.

Everywhere Landon is gathering strength in New York, in Pennsylvania, in New England—to add to the western delegates already committed to his cause. His astute manager, lawyer John Hamilton of Topeka, subtly and suavely scouting among the incoming state delegations, was himself surprised at the mounting Landon total. And while he still declines to go on record with a first ballot total, he admits that he has raised his estimate which, even a few days ago, was close to the 500 mark. It is known that Hamilton expects to call keno when the teller comes to Pennsylvania on the rollcall of states. Keno and halloo-luh.

See Transformation
What we are seeing here under our very eyes is a transformation of the old, traditional Republican party of Lincoln, Hayes, Harrison, Taft and Coolidge. The abandonment of the tenets of Hamilton for the political philosophy of Jefferson. Going in for states' rights and a curtailment of federal power. The most amazing switch of political identities in one hundred years. For it is the Democrats and the new deal who have gone. Hamilton's taken up the Jeffersonian doctrine of strong state authority. I don't know what the old elephant will look like when he takes the trail out of Cleveland, but he won't be the same pachyderm we have known to, these many years. Something will have happened to his ears, his trunk and his tail.

What we are seeing here, in any amazement, is a true convention of the common people—the plain man having his say. Bosses shoved to one side and none too gently. Told to get out and stay out. Shades of Mark Hanna who held whole states in the palm of his hand. Great Garretian Boise Penrose turning over in his grave at the spectacle of mere delegates having a say in the final selection of the candidate—Penrose, who from his bed of illness in Penn's Woods dictated to that group of gentlemen in a smoke-filled room of the Hotel Blackstone in Chicago the nomination of Warren Harding. Sinuous, soft-stepping Murray Crane of Massachusetts, oiling the steam-roller which, under the relentlessly skillful driving of Elihu Root flattened out the chances of Theodore Roosevelt and handed the 1912 prize to William Howard Taft.

What we are seeing here is the rising political domination of the agricultural west over the industrial east. The easterners don't count for much in this 1936 show. If they have declared for Landon, well and good. They are tolerated. They can stick around. People will speak to them on the street. Otherwise they can go to, and nobody gives a hang. The west is in the saddle and socking in the spurs. The whole scene is dominated by big, broad-shouldered, sunburned, Stetson-hatted grass rooters who know what they want when they want it.

But too often specialization is art of staying ignorant about all subjects except one.

Deaths of the Day

John B. Hunter.
John B. Hunter, aged 85 years, passed away at 7:45 a. m. today in his home, 309 South Crawford avenue. He had been in poor health for the past two years.

Mr. Hunter was born at Tarentum in Allegheny county on October 14, 1850, son of Joseph and Nancy Junkin Hunter. He was a core maker by trade but will be remembered best as night sergeant of police at the New Castle Works, American Sheet and Tin Plate company, a job he had for many years.

As a boy, Mr. Hunter was hired to ring the bell at the Martin Gantz school by the late Martin Gantz, when President Lincoln was buried. He was one of the three surviving members of the old Tape-worm club, a famous outing association here in its day.

In addition to his wife he leaves two sons, Frank P. and Charlie L. Hunter, at home.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

The body will be removed to the home Wednesday, and may be seen there.

Cornerstone Laying Plans Are Complete

Armory Ceremony At Cascade Park To Take Place Saturday Afternoon

Preparations are being made this week by members of the Troop F Advisory council to gather some documents and papers pertaining to Troop F for placement in the cornerstone which will be laid on Saturday afternoon, June 13, at 3:30 o'clock.

Invitations have been issued to divisional and brigade officers of the National Guard to attend the affair and invitations have also been issued to the city and county officials. In addition, the advisory council and the committee in charge of the cornerstone laying have issued a general invitation to all citizens to attend the ceremonies.

Frank S. Hoyt will be the chairman of the day and Brigadier-General Edward J. Stackpole, Jr., will deliver the cornerstone laying address. L. B. Round, chairman of the advisory council will give a short history of the troop's activities and the American Legion Junior Band will provide the music.

All members of the original troop mustered in 1904 are asked to get in touch with Russell C. Melvin, whose office is in the Cathedral, phone 5000, and tell him if they will attend. The original officers and men yet living, as well as visiting officers and city and county officials will be guests of honor.

The ceremony will be a brief one. In addition to the two speeches there will be the introduction of guests of honor and the entire ceremony will occupy but about 45 minutes. Plans are already forming for the dedication of the building which will probably be held on Armistice Day, November 11.

Baseball Trade Winds Blowing

Rogers Hornsby Would Swing Big Deal With Detroit Tigers

(International News Service)
BOSTON, June 9.—Baseball trade winds between Detroit and St. Louis are hot but dry.

Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Browns is still trying to get Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers, now in Boston, to loosen up with a large slice of bankroll.

The deal on the fire is a trade involving Billy Rogell, shortstop; Jojo White and Gerald Walker, outfielders, of the Tigers, and Sammy West, outfielder; Lyn Lary, shortstop, and Russ Van Atta, southpaw pitcher, of the Browns.

Hornsby realizes Cochrane needs a portside pitcher badly. His only left hand hurler, Joe Sullivan, has had a dismal season.

Cochrane could not be reached for comment but it was learned from other major league sources that the deal is ready to go through if the Tigers are willing to part with enough money.

G. O. P. DELEGATES OPEN SESSIONS AT CLEVELAND

considerable time. In his room at the Cleveland hotel, sat Senator Wm. E. Borah, Idaho, grim-visaged, 70 years old, and fighting perhaps what will be his last fight in the party to which he has given allegiance—and headaches—for four decades.

Borah Is Resigned
The Idahoan knows he has no chances for the nomination himself.

He became resigned to that some days ago when the inexorable arithmetic of the situation impressed itself upon him. But his hat is still in the ring and he came to Cleveland determined to put his fingerprints in the platform.

It was under such circumstances and conditions—the nomination battle seemingly over for all practical purposes, but a bitter fight looming over the platform—that the 21st quadrennial Republican convention got under way today in what is perhaps the most magnificent public auditorium in America. The hall had a seating capacity of 15,000 people. Lofty, spacious and acoustically so arranged that even the top-most galleries could hear what was being said from the platform, the auditorium presented an imposing picture as the delegates straggled in.

Press And Radio Sections
From the platform, flanked by hundreds of press seats, equipped with noiseless typewriters and softly-purring telegraph wires, extended a long narrow tongue littered with broadcasting apparatus.

Photographers overran the place, their flash-lights winking like lightning bugs on a June night as they snapped celebrities and those who hope to be celebrities some day. High in the rear of the spacious hall under the roof a band tooted popular airs. They kept the band as far away as possible from the platform this year, which was a break for the working reporters in the press section.

The floor was a panorama of state standards and microphones which were to enable the delegates to make their voices heard to the chair. Later in the week, along about Thursday night or Friday, those same state standards will all be snatched from their moorings and paraded about the hall in a stampede that is peculiar to the American system of selecting presidential candidates in a major political convention.

The mid-west, which is regarded as a battle-ground of the forthcoming campaign, got a good break in the seating. Immediately in front of the platform, in the choice locations, gleamed the standards of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Wisconsin, Illinois and Kentucky. The largest delegations in the convention, New York's 90, and Pennsylvania's 75, were seated well back.

Cleveland, O., June 9.—The Republican National convention was called to order at 11:46 a. m. today by National chairman Henry P. Fletcher.

Floor and galleries rose to the first verse of "America," led by the band.

They remained standing while the Rev. Albert Joseph McCartney of the Covenant-First Presbyterian church pronounced the invocation.

He spoke of the "critical times," and "national sins," and prayed for "temperate speech." He asked for divine guidance for the convention in selecting a presidential nominee of "integrity of purpose," and "simplicity of speech that even a child might understand."

He asked for help for the great army of unemployed, the great army of roaming unemployed youth, and "all those who have suffered and been ground down under the heel of the bitter depression."

He concluded: "And now, will you all from coast to coast join with me in the familiar Lord's prayer."

Like the rumble of the surf, the prayer was intoned from the floor and the galleries.

Then chairman Fletcher took charge again.

KATHRYN HITE WEDS CAPTAIN A. A. SMITH

St. Mary's church was the scene of a very solemn and impressive wedding this morning at a quarter to nine o'clock, when Kathryn A. Hite, daughter of Leo P. Hite of Park avenue, became the bride of Captain A. A. Smith, of Lock Haven Pa.

Father William M. F. Galvin officiated, using the single ring ceremony in the presence of a large assembly of friends and relatives, many of whom were here from Youngstown, Lima, O., Sharon and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Attendants included Rita Rose Hite, and John D. Hite, sister and brother of the bride. Ushers were Paul and Edward Hite, brothers. For the processional, and after the exchange of vows, Frank S. Gribben, church organist, played beautiful music during low mass which followed the marriage ceremony.

Decorations were carried out in a June setting of gorgeous white peonies, large baskets of these being used on either side of the altar, with a background of green, palms and ferns, furthering the color tones of green and white.

The bride was lovely in a floor length gown of hyacinth blue lace, designed with a slight train, and short peplum jacket. A Marie Antoinette collar added a distinguishing touch. Her small hat was of dusty pink felt, shading into orchid, and a corsage of orchids harmonized. She carried a white prayer book, with streamers of valley lilies tied with white satin ribbons.

Rita Rose Hite wore a gown of yellow lace, made similar to her sister's, with starched lace collar and cuffs to add chic. A large picture hat of straw was trimmed with orchid ribbon to harmonize with the bride's accessories. Her flowers were yellow roses and blue cantanberry bells fashioned into the new arm bouquet, with trailing streamers.

After the bride and groom received informally, best wishes and congratulations, a wedding breakfast was served at the Castleton Hotel. Covers were arranged for 20 guests, members of the immediate families, at a long table centered with an artistic floral piece of white roses and other flowers in pastel colors. Slender white tapers in crystal holders completed the setting.

Later this morning, Captain and Mrs. Smith departed on an eastern motor trip, concluding which they will be "at home" after July 1, at Lock Haven.

Testifying to the popularity of the newlyweds, a large collection of handsome and beautiful gifts have been received by them, some of which were presented at surprise showers for the bride previously, by numerous friends who entertained at smart affairs in her honor.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of New Castle High school, and of St. Elizabeth's School of Nursing, at Youngstown, O. For the past nine years, she has been public health nurse for Lawrence County chapter, American Red Cross.

Captain Smith is a mechanical engineer, having attended Pitt University. He is in charge of a Conservation camp at Lock Haven, Pa.

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., June 9.—Defeated in his attempts to obtain a U. S. senate investigation of the WPA, Sen. James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Keystone State Republican delegation to the national convention, today was waging a vigorous drive for inclusion of a strong denunciation of WPA policies in the 1936 G. O. P. platform.

"We ought to say something about the WPA in our platform," Davis said, at the same time urging that the present works program be returned to local government units for administration.

"The taxpayers are the ones responsible for providing the money," Davis continued, "and they should have the responsibility for spending it. Returning works relief administration to local units will cut out the tremendous overhead and we'll have that much more for relief."

Davis also advocated a strong declaration in the platform to keep America out of war and European entanglements.

"We should never again send our boys over there to be slaughtered," he asserted.

Davis, as did former Sen. David
A. Reed, roundly criticized the reciprocal trade agreements negotiated by the Roosevelt administration and declared they should be ratified by the U. S. senate.

"These reciprocal agreements should be submitted to the senate," Davis said. "That power belong to the people and should not be delegated to the president."

Davis will wield the gavel over the Pennsylvania caucus and will guide its activities on the convention floor.

Hold Thirteen For Trial In Mass Murder

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 9.—Michigan justice struck a smashing blow at the Black Legion Monday when it decreed that 13 members of the hooded cult be held for trial in circuit court without bond for a single murder.

Forecasting the greatest mass trial in the criminal annals of Michigan, Common Pleas Judge
Ralph W. Liddy ordered the 13 men held for trial in the higher court after the state introduced evidence at the court examination that the men plotted the fantastic night-ride slaying of Charles A. Poole, an obscure WPA worker.

Included among those remanded to jail to await trial was Dayton Dean, squat executioner of the Black Legion, who startled the courtroom last week when he took the stand at his own request and publicly confessed he killed Poole after orders from his "superior officer."

Borah To Battle For Four Planks

"Lion Of Idaho" Still Contender For Nomination But Has Little Hope

SEEKS TO AID IN SHAPING PLATFORM

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Battling for aggressive, decisive planks in the Republican platform on all major issues, Senator William E. Borah today planned to occupy a sideline role while the Republicans open their presidential convention.

The "Lion of Idaho" declared himself still a contender for the Republican presidential nomination although he had little hope of winning it. Consequently, while exhorting his followers to remain loyal until the last ballot, he devoted most of his time to developing support in the convention for his as yet unpublished planks on monopoly, foreign affairs, farm relief and money, which are based on his well-known ideas on these subjects.

Prepares Four Planks
The Idaho senator has prepared these four planks, which he considers of major importance in the 1936 campaign. He has agreed to offer them to the convention, if its leaders will agree to give him the privilege of defending them on the floor of the convention if any are rejected by its resolution committee.

Thus far, convention leaders have ignored his offer. Favorable action must be taken by them or Borah will be barred from debating any issue in the convention since he is not an elected delegate.

Borah prepared these planks with the aid of Amos Pinchot, noted New York attorney, Frank E. Gannett, newspaper publisher, and Dr. Edward A. Rumley, New York economist.

On monopoly, Borah would define it as the power to fix prices. He would declare for its elimination by prohibiting the shipment of its products through the channels of interstate commerce.

On foreign affairs, he would declare generally against entangling foreign alliances and specifically against the league of nations and its world court. He would declare for the strictest neutrality in all international conflicts.

Farm Relief Ideas
On farm relief, he would declare for repeal of the president's reciprocal trading powers, repeal of existing reciprocal treaties, full tariff protection of American farm products, federal aid to agriculture for the duration of the farm depression, against the Roosevelt administration crop curtailment program and for restoration of the farmer's domestic markets by restoration of the purchasing power of the American masses.

On the money issue, he would declare for repeal of the president's power and restoration to congress of the power to regulate the nation's currency. He would declare for a stable dollar, equalizing the purchasing power, and against all international agreements on the monetary question. He would oppose return to the old gold standard.

Borah was almost fanatical in his fight for these planks. He denounced some substitutes emanating from other factions in the convention, as "timid" and "expedient." One proposed foreign affairs plank, straddling the world court issue, he denounced as "cowardly." He frankly declared he desired liberal planks but liberal planks with teeth in them.

As for his own candidacy for the nomination, Borah told one of his faithful delegates: "This race is not over by any means. Discount all these claims you hear. A lot can happen in this convention by Thursday. Stand firm. Watch for the platform."

His plans for the day were these: "I am going to rest today so I'll be ready for the next two days (when the convention adopts its platform and nominates its candidate). I won't attend this morning's session but I plan to attend the convention tonight as a visitor to hear the keynote speech of Senator (Frederick) Steiwer. I shall sit with the Idaho delegation and I hope no one will object."

Erie Boy Informs Officers Of Mash Odor And Still Is Found

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 9.—A 12-year-old boy today was credited by the liquor control board for "detective work" that led to the seizure of one of the largest illicit stills confiscated by state agents in recent months.

The boy, John Patchen, of (350 W. 30th St.) Erie, a brother of T. C. Patchen, state enforcement officer, noticed an odor of mash along a stream that flows near the route he takes going to and from school. After days of fruitless searching for the source of the odor, John told his older brother what he had learned.

Officers traced the mash upstream to a house at 4118 Arcadia avenue, Erie, raided the place and arrested Bernardino Manendo, alleged owner of the property. The agents found a 1200-gallon still and four 800-gallon mash vats in the house, they said at a federal hearing when Manendo was held under $2000 bond for a hearing on June 16.

The fight was over who should take precedence at the formal dinners, the sister and housekeeper of the vice president or the wife of the speaker of the house of representatives.

Charges Relief System Nothing But Big Racket

Senator Leon Prince Says "Paid Social Workers" Cause Big Racket In State

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 9.—Blame for the alleged development of Pennsylvania's unemployment relief system into a "hopeless racket" was laid today upon "paid social workers" of the SERA by Sen. Leon C. Prince, Cumberland Republican.

Prince, who charged the federal government still owes Pennsylvania more than $15,000,000 on its pledge to provide relief funds for the jobless, declared before the senate: "As long as the state remains in the business of determining who is to have relief in every community, it will continue to be a racket. It was a racket under Governor Pinchot, who established the system. It is a racket under Governor Earle. It will continue to be a racket under any governor who may be elected in the future, no matter who he is or to what party he belongs."

"The reason is that application of relief is vested in a hired class whose livelihood depends upon perpetuating the very condition which their activities are supposed to remove."

Prince said it was to the interest of paid social workers "to see that the number (of relief cases) does not diminish," and that "that is what makes relief a racket."

Premier Blum Strives To Push Through Labor Reforms With Record Speed

SEEKS TO END SERIOUS STRIKES

(International News Service)
PARIS, June 9.—France's new government under socialist Premier Leon Blum strove today to push through labor reforms with record speed.

Draft of the labor reform bills was approved at a cabinet council, then routed to the ministerial council for consideration and was to go to the chamber of deputies at 4:00 p. m.

The reforms include pay rises of from seven to 15 per cent, a 40-hour work week, two weeks vacation with pay and collective bargaining.

Thousands On Strike
Coincidentally, producers' representatives charged that wage increases gained in the "folded arms" strike of last week would increase the cost of living 25 to 30 per cent and that Blum's proposed credit expansion to finance a huge public works program would push France off gold.

Still on strike today were 150,000 mine and textile workers, 33,000 automobile workers and thousands of others in the building trades and department stores.

Convention Is Proving Dry One

Less Liquor In Evidence
Than During Dry Era
Prior To Four Years Ago

COST OF LIQUOR IS BEING BLAMED

Central Press Bureau at
G. O. P. Convention
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Cleveland enjoys the distinction of being the first city to entertain a post-war convention with legal drinks.

Not that the earlier ones really were dry, but they were supposed to be.

The Republican convention of 1924 when Calvin Coolidge was named for the presidency, also was a Cleveland affair, and in the same auditorium as this year's.

The nomination was made in a ringing prohibition address in the course of which the expression "The law reigns" was used again and again.

Now, about half a city block from that convention hall was a neat little speakeasy, where customers could and did sit, sipping their hooch and listening to the nominating orator's words as they were broadcast by radio.

DRY?—HA!

Prohibition officialdom swore, in advance of the 1928 conventions that they actually would dry Kansas City and Houston up, and I thought maybe they could do it by concentrating their full national strength upon these two spots.

Accordingly, I did a bit of investigating. My estimate was that there were 75 speakeasies in K. C.

At this one of the local papers was much insulted. It said editorially that that city was as well supplied with speakeasies as any town of its size—at least twice or thrice 75. And it argued that I should have counted drug stores, too.

NOT ARID HERE, EITHER

Houston had a whole row of drinking joints right across the street from the auditorium.

There, as in Cleveland, in 1924, it was possible to quaff a glass of moonshine on the front porch of one of these places (they even served the stuff outside, in plain view of passersby) and follow the convention speeches at the same time.

The Houston oratory wasn't dry, however. That was a wet convention—the one which nominated Al Smith.

Chicago, of course, was simply dripping, as always, in 1932.

PRICES HIGH IN CLEVELAND

Yet inebriety in Cleveland this year, with drinks legalized, has seemed to me less prevalent than I have observed at prohibition-day political gatherings.

For one thing, the prices are almost ruinous. They are everywhere, for that matter.

Forty cents for a small shot of indifferent liquor, plus a sales tax on top of it, is too much for the average convention delegate's pocketbook to stand very long.

This as compared with a maximum of 15 cents for a similar dose in the pre-prohibition era. In fact, it is only 10 cents less, not to mention the sales tax, than ordinarily was charged during the prohibition period.

NO FUN ANY MORE

Besides, there is less fun in walking up to an open-and-above-board bar and buying a perfectly lawful drink than there was in sneaking into a dirty hole-in-the-wall and enjoying the sensation of fracturing the United States constitution.

Cleveland's, Kansas City's, Houston's and Chicago's speakeasies were packed to suffocation in 1924, 1928 and 1932.

This year my observation has been that their barrooms have been the least crowded spots in Cleveland's hotels.

ACCIDENT VICTIM

LEAVES HOSPITAL

John Criss of R. F. D. No. 7 who was injured May 29, when his car collided head-on with another machine on Route 422, has recovered sufficiently to leave the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he has been undergoing treatment.

On Court House Hill

New blinds for court room No. 1 have arrived and will be hung this week. The court room was recently repapered, and when the new blinds are up will present a very pretty appearance.

Attorney Marshall G. Matheny has been granted a commission as a Notary Public. The commission was entered at the register and recorder's office today.

Attorney Charles E. Meharg has been appointed auditor in the final account of Attorney W. K. Hugas, executor in the estate of the late Joseph L. Uhl.

Two squirrels were being fed peanuts on the court house lawn today. When they had all they could eat, they buried the surplus, thereby teaching a lesson in thrift.

County Commissioners would like to see considerable tax money coming in this month, as there are bond maturities to meet during the month of July. So far payments have been a little slow.

Former Alderman Richard R. Lewis of the fifth ward presented to court additional reasons for a new trial today. The reasons were based largely on alleged errors made by the court in the charge to the jury in his case.

Alderman Lewis was convicted of irregularities in connection with the last November election, at which he was a candidate for re-election. It was claimed that the ballot box was tampered with after it had been stored in his office. Lewis strenuously denied any connection with the tampering with the box or the ballots. After his conviction he made application for a new trial, giving a number of reasons. Those filed today are in addition to those which have already been filed.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland is making a study of the act passed by the special session of the legislature, relative to the abatement of interest and penalties on back taxes. The bill provides for the abatement of interest and penalties for 1934 and prior years. By paying 1935 taxes a property owner can take advantage of the fact which gives five years in which to pay the back taxes, twenty per cent to be paid each year. While the bill was before the state legislature Treasurer Hartland announced that he would accept payments on these taxes feeling sure that the bill would pass. Under the terms of the bill no more tax sales may be held until delinquent taxpayers have had the opportunity to pay back taxes at face, over a period of five years.

It affects all sections of the state with the exception of Philadelphia and the school district of Pittsburgh.

Seventy-nine instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number 42 were deeds and 17 were mortgages. Some deeds for properties recently sold by the sheriff were among those entered which helped to swell the list. The mortgages were mostly to building and loan associations. Very little individual mortgage money seems to be available.

It is expected that Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard will receive orders this week to bring John Dewey Seavers from the Western penitentiary to the county jail. His case is expected to come before the court next week. Seavers, serving a life term for killing his wife, Stella Seavers, still has an indictment hanging over him charging him with the murder of his sister-in-law, Catherine Rodgers. It is for a disposition of this case, either by a plea or trial, that he will be brought out.

County Commissioner Floyd Cotton, who has been making a check-up of cases on the county welfare rolls, has finished Ellwood City, and began this week on the Wurttemberg district. After he finishes there he will take up some of the other country districts.

Conventional Black Being Done Away With In Modern
Shrouds, Mortician States

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., June 9.—The modern trend of color in dress is reaching even into the casket of the dead.

"Old-time funeral black is fast disappearing and modern colors are taking its place both in caskets and burial dress," Carl Haessler, Chicago, public relations director of the National Funeral Directors Association, said.

He stated that various light colors are being used for casket coverings and linings and that women are being buried in dresses to match these shades. Men are buried in business suits, dinner clothes and other informal attire.

Pajamas are used sometimes for burial dress for both men and women to carry out the theme of "permanent rest," Haessler said.

Traffic Edict Hits Patrol Wagon

(International News Service)
NEWBURYPORT, Mass., June 9. No matter who it hits, police have to enforce the edict that automobiles cannot be operated on Massachusetts highways without an O. K. sticker.

So Newburyport police had to keep their patrol wagon in the garage because it needed $70 worth of repairs to make its equipment safe. Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis did not appropriate enough money this year.

City Marshall James E. Sullivan laments that the patrol wagon is "falling to pieces"—and it has only gone 200,000 miles.

Farm Platform Plank Source Of Controversy

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CLEVELAND, June 9.—The farmers of the nation today gave the platform builders of the Republican National convention half a dozen headaches.

The very diversity of the proposals laid before the resolutions committee—there were literally dozens—might drive the convention to speedy adoption of a plank drafted by the committee.

On the other hand, that same diversity might, if sponsors of the various schemes stick to their guns, precipitate an old-time, stem-winding row on the floor.

At best, the resolutions committee faced a mountain of work before it can whip into shape a plank on which the opposing factions can all be pleased even moderately.

The Landon forces were reported tentatively agreed on a program—but even the most ardent followers of the Kansas governor conceded that there might be many changes, and much fighting, before its adoption.

Latest whispers out of the Landon camp forecast a plank based on a tariff equivalent bounty to farmers, tied in closely with a soil conservation program, the first to be used in some way as an inducement to participation in the second. Details were carefully guarded, but it was learned that the bounty would equal the import duty on the commodity.

Peek Has Much To Say
Rep. Clifford Hope (R) of Kansas and ranking Republican on the House Agriculture committee, and George N. Peek, deposed Roosevelt administration trade expert, appeared to be the immediate guiding lights in the Landon group's movements to ward an agriculture policy. Peek, sources close to Landon declared, is having a great deal to say—although he is not here for the convention. Apparently, the long distance telephone from the convention to Peek is working overtime. In varying degrees of opposition to the reported Landon plank were the proposals of easterners, an active 187 vote southern group, the American Farm Bureau Federation, and half a dozen little units sniping away at any and all farm programs which conceded anything of benefit to the existing farm policies of President Roosevelt.

The Farm Bureau Federation proposals, and the apparently crystallizing thoughts of the southerners, provided the most interesting basis for fight speculation. Edward A. O'Neal, who heads the Farm Bureau Federation, made public his organization's platform hope—a proposal for an unequivocal declaration for controlled production and distribution, and for continuance of reciprocal trade agreements, and retention of the most-favored-nations clause. This proposed agriculture plank, too, called for continued federal credit aid, and a managed currency regulated on a commodity index basis.

Despite the federation's sponsorship of the reciprocal trade treaties and use of the most-favored-nations clause, the convention was expected almost certainly to take a stand opposing the treaties, or placing their ratification in the United States instead of in the hands of the president.

Landon Occupies Dentist's Chair

(International News Service)
TOPEKA, Kas., June 9.—As the gavel fell opening the 1936 Republican National Convention at Cleveland this morning, Governor Alf M. Landon, leading candidate for the nomination, was in the chair of his dentist.

However, it was not gubernatorial toothache but some "much delayed dental work" that took the governor to his dentist.

Haven Tells How He Fooled Gang Out To Get Him

How His Ruse Of Pretending Intoxication Resulted In Four Arrests

CASE IS ON TRIAL AT COURT TODAY

Stanley Balin, Alex Presner and Andy Howarth, charged with assault and battery with intent to rob former Chief of Police John F. Haven, and Mike Miscernic, charged with being an accessory after the fact, went on trial before Judge James A. Chambers at court today.

Haven explained that complaints had come to the police department of holdups in the vicinity of Long avenue and Moravia street. They consisted mostly of "rolling" drunks. On March 8 Haven, with three other officers, Marion Young, Showalter and Criswell, went to the district with the object in view of trying to make arrests. Haven wore plain clothes, a cap and was otherwise disguised.

"I got out of a car driven by Criswell at an alley on Moravia street, south of Long avenue," said Haven. "As I started up the alley I noticed a man who was apparently drunk and followed him at a distance. The man crossed Jefferson street and I followed to Howard way. Here several men appeared and started following the drunk. He turned and retraced his steps toward Jefferson street."

"I went to Jefferson street and leaned against a telephone pole on the east side of the street. I saw two young men talking and recognized one of them as Balin. Two others came along. I was still leaning against the pole. I walked across the street and leaned against another pole, when I heard one of the boys say, 'Let's get him'. They came toward me and Presner began to swear at me, asking what I was doing there. He then struck at me, hitting me on the shoulder. I pulled out a blackjack and one of the men cried 'He's got a blackjack'. I grabbed hold of Balin as the boys closed in on me.

"Just then Showalter appeared and one of the boys yelled 'Here comes the law' and started to run. I still held Balin and he was turned over to Young and Showalter, who took him to the police station."

It was from Balin that the names of the others was learned.

When the officers went to search for them it is claimed that Mike Miscernic tried to assist them in escaping but was unsuccessful. It was for this reason that he was arrested as being an accessory after the fact.

Deputy State Police Chief Will Not Quit

Seek To Force Major Charles Schoeffel Out Of Office In New Jersey

(International News Service)
TRENTON, N. J., June 9.—Despite his request that Major Charles H. Schoeffel, deputy superintendent of New Jersey's state police, resign, Capt. William J. Carter, acting superintendent of the force, said today no further changes will be made in the personnel.

Schoeffel refused to resign but has taken an indefinite leave of absence while Attorney General David T. Wilentz determines his status. Schoeffel is a close friend of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf. The latter left office Sunday after Gov. Harold G. Hoffman appointed Col. Mark O. Kimberling his successor. Carter is acting head of the police force pending the state senate's action on Kimberling's appointment.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., June 9.—Artificial respiration today was credited with saving the life of Douglas Whitby, 17, of Pottstown. Apparently lifeless when taken from a Y. M. C. A. pool here, the youth was revived after 20 minutes. Whitby was lying on the bottom of the pool when seen by another swimmer.

Church Records Ordered Seized In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—The moderator and stated clerk of the presbytery of Philadelphia today were ordered to seize the central North Broad street Presbyterian church and all its records from its revolting congregation.

The outgrowth of the resignation of 13 ministers and four laymen from the denomination as a climax to a long fundamentalist-modernist feud, the action was ordered at a special meeting of the presbytery in which five of the withdrawing clergymen were officially "suspended."

The group included the Rev. J. Gresham Machen, fundamentalist leader, who has called a meeting in this city for Thursday to found a new denomination on fundamentalist principles. Nine trustees of the revolting church also were ordered suspended.

AROUND CITY HALL

Relative to the councilmanic discussion concerning a roller and the "A" program of street paving, Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated today that the WPA through Captain Francis Butler had communicated with higher-ups at Harrisburg. Assurance was given the mayor, he stated that the WPA would secure a steam roller and this could be used to roll the base. The roller to be secured has a pan underneath which will preclude the mayor added, any chance of the street catching afire. The first street which will be improved is Raymond street.

Corps of 24 engineers now are making plans for the airport, according to a statement made by Councilman Joseph D. Alexander. This information was developed after Mayor Charles E. McGrath had pointed out during councilmanic session that although WPA officials had given assurance the airport construction would get under way no actual work had been started. Alexander explained that some changes in the plans were necessitated and that the men now were doing this phase of the work.

Reports from traffic officers at the police station show that parking conditions in North and South Mercer street have improved. The improvement is due to the shift from a two-hour limit to a 30-minute stay for cars. Signs to that effect have been erected and policemen have been chalking cars and those which over-stay 30 minutes have been tagged.

Roosevelt Vetoes Air Reserve Bill

Bill Setting Up Air Reserve Training Corps Is Not Needed—Roosevelt

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Roosevelt has vetoed a bill which would have set up an air reserve training corps, holding there was no immediate need for such an organization and that the necessary money could better be applied to current aviation necessities.

The rejected measure would have enrolled youths between the ages of 17 and 24 in a junior air reserve training corps with a view of holding them available for active service in event of national emergency.

"The war department has reported that there is no immediate military necessity for such an organization and that its cost would be out of proportion to the results looked for," the presidential veto message declared.

Equalizing the tax burden doesn't mean equalizing what you pay but what you have left.

READY TO PASS NEW LIQUOR TAX MEASURE

Legislature Near Final Act On Bill

Would Raise Additional $7,500,000 For Relief Needs In Pennsylvania

LEGISLATURE MAY ADJOURN FOR WEEK

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 9.—The Earle administration's first revenue measure to move toward enactment as law, the $7,500,000 tax on retail liquor sales, was ready for final action today in both branches of the legislature.

While the senate and the house of representatives faced the possibility of an early adjournment—possibly late this afternoon—for a brief legislative week, the proposed 10 percent tax on liquor came up for third reading in the upper chamber where it may be passed finally and sent to the house for concurrence in minor amendments.

Would Be Effective At Once

As amended, the tax would become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by Gov. George H. Earle, rather than 10 days after first passage. Estimated revenues of the tax, as a result, could be started toward their utilization for unemployment relief needs almost at once.

Advancement of the liquor climaxed the work of the opening of the sixth week of the session in the senate, while the house defeated the Holland bill proposing to tax real estate of Public Service corporations for school purposes but passed finally the $2,000,000 Weis-Andrews flood control bill. The lower chamber recommended the Erie Electric Power tax for further consideration and possible amendment.

Light Calendars

Light calendars confronted both chambers today but members of the senate finance committee were to conduct a public hearing on the proposed corporate net income tax measure tonight.

Lengthy debate marked the advancement of the calendar in the house last night, while the senate session was largely devoted to oratorical outbursts from both Democrats and Republicans, the former decrying delay in advancing legislation, and the latter condemning present relief methods and the administration of the WPA in Pennsylvania.

The senate passed finally an act appropriating $700,000 to pump flood waters from slate quarries and coal mines in the state, and the Bean bill clarifying the personal property tax. The Harkins administration bill to extend mothers' assistance payments was passed in the house, the administration bill preventing cruelty to animals in roadside zoos was passed on third reading. Introduced in the senate, the measure was referred to committee.

A resolution by Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny Republican, calling for an investigation of charges that "Black Legion" activities had been extended into Pennsylvania, was unanimously adopted.

The senate also voted to recall the $3,630,000 emergency relief transfer for May from Governor Earle to add to it the $4,931,211 appropriation recently approved for current needs.

Delegates From Kansas Ready

Well Organized For Move To Make Governor Landon The Nominee

WISE MANAGEMENT SEEN IN CAMPAIGN

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Their strategy carefully mapped out, the Kansas delegation trooped into the Republican national convention today like a young, well coordinated ball club meeting its first test in "major league" political competition.

Every member of "the Kansans" is confident they will "win with Landon." It is a smart, smooth running organization. The essence of their strategy will be to lay back and wait. They will not try to force the nomination of Gov. Alf M. Landon on the first ballot.

Not So Green

Some of them have enjoyed the pretense that in this big league political game they are "just a bunch of country boys doing the best they can." This, of course, is not so. They know all the plays—all the answers, particularly John Hamilton, the Landon campaign manager, and his board of strategy.

Old timers of the Republican league are not likely to fool these boys from the farm belt. It was freely predicted they will be equal to any emergency that may arise.

John Hamilton will do the "pitching." Floor Leader Joe Martin the "catching." With the club are Senator Arthur Capper, Henry J. Allen, the famous editor, and on the coaching lines is Roy Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star who, with Hamilton, is the "brains" of the board of strategy.

The Kansans also have, I am told, "some pretty fair recruits" in Tom Johnson of Wichita, Lester McCoy of Garden City, and Fred Harris of Ottawa.

Will Be Match For Farley
Hamilton already has proved to the army of newspaper correspondents that he "knows his stuff." They have tried to trap him, with one after another shooting questions, into revealing his plans or into making page one attacks upon rival candidates. But Hamilton was too smart.

The conviction is growing that with Landon the nominee—as now seems certain—the strong-chinned, curly-haired young Mr. Hamilton will prove a worthy foe for the experienced "Jim" Farley, Roosevelt's campaign manager, in the subsequent battle for ballots.

"Why don't you say Landon will be nominated on the first ballot?" prodded a reporter during a Hamilton press conference.

"Oh," replied Hamilton casually, "I don't know the psychology of conventions."

But you felt he had his tongue in his cheek when he said it. The consensus is he knows plenty. He did make it plain, however, that he believes the delegates should have the right without coercion or cudgeling to vote as they saw fit on the first ballot. If they want to vote for "favorite sons" it's all right with Hamilton. He is not in sympathy with the hard boiled methods of machine politicians. He is not trying to crowd the first ballot; neither will he stop any first ballot band wagon movement.

Hamilton declared he is ready to go as far as Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, wants the convention to go on its anti-monopoly plank. Weighing his words, he said:

"Mr. Borah can't write a monopoly plank strong enough that I wouldn't personally help him get it into the platform."

ACADEMY CLOSES JUNE 14
Mount Gallitzin academy at Baden, Pa., will close for the term on Sunday, June 14, it was announced here today. The academy's Class Night will be on June 12.

Tickets For Banquet Ready

Places Where Tickets For Alumni Reunion And Banquet May Be Secured Are Announced

INTEREST GROWS IN COMING EVENT

Tickets for the alumni reunion and banquet are now available. Mrs. Ethel Rentz Ferver, president of the New Castle High School alumni Association announced today, and can be secured by members of the alumni.

Those expecting to attend are urged to get their tickets at once in order to avoid the last minute confusion which generally results. This will also enable the committee to get an accurate check on the number expecting to attend so that the caterers will have a line on the number expected.

The committee is planning an appropriate but compact program, one that will be interesting but not too long, and in addition to the dinner and program, there will be dancing in the later hours of the evening, for which an orchestra of more than ordinary repute has been secured.

Tickets can be secured at Hyde's drug store in the Seventh Ward; Shaffer and Snyder, on Long avenue; Gilmore's drug store on East Washington street; Love and McGown's and The Work Basket.

TO BUILD $13,000 SERVICE STATION

Permit was issued today for construction of a $13,000 service station at 25 North Jefferson street. The construction will be of brick. The permit was issued to Eckles & Caruthers. The estimated outlay represents the largest sum expended for a service station here in some time.

Warren Woman To Soon Know Fate

Jury In Trial Of Mrs. Metro Seminuk Will Retire For Deliberations Today

(International News Service) WARREN, Pa. June 9.—The fate of Mrs. Metro Seminuk was to be placed in the hands of a jury of six housewives and six men today as her trial on charges of plotting the death of her husband drew to a close.

Referring to his client as a "flower crushed, a rose wilted after exposure to the sun", Attorney A. Lincoln Cohen represented the defendant as the victim of gossip and pleaded with the jury to free her.

Pointing to a confession Mrs. Seminuk supposedly made to state police that she planned the murder, Prosecutor L. C. Eddy pictured her as a murderous plotter and demanded the jury to return a verdict of guilty affixing the death penalty.

The commonwealth has maintained throughout the trial that the defendant gave John Polens, Duquesne University graduate, $100, which eventually was paid to Joe Senauskas, 19, to shoot Seminuk. Both Polens and Senauskas pleaded guilty.

Two Temporary Policemen Start Work As Officers

George Perotta, who previously has served as a temporary policeman and who is on the eligible list, started last night to serve again temporarily as a policeman and tonight William G. Smith will embark on his duties as a temporary policeman. Smith also is eligible for appointment, both Perotta and he having passed the civil service test.

Several days ago Mayor Charles E. McGrath placed Jack Thompson in the role of a temporary policeman. Dent Shields is also serving in that capacity. Four others, named by council to the police force, will undergo a course of training at the State police school beginning in July.

PAINTING FOUND IN ATTIC VALUABLE

(International News Service) CINCINNATI, O., June 9.—A painting of Christ carrying the Cross may be worth $50,000 it was revealed to its astonished owner, Mrs. John Gabriel, Covington, Ky. Art authorities of the Detroit Institute of Arts said that the painting was the work of Peter Pietersz, famed Flemish painter, who died in 1603.

The picture was found accidentally last summer by Joseph A. C. tendorf, Cleveland, O., son-in-law of Mrs. Gabriel who was visiting her home and rummaging through the attic. Alfonso Gars, Frenchman, who lived in Cincinnati and grandfather of Mrs. Gabriel, brought the painting to this country over 50 years ago and since that time it has been kept in the family for sentimental reasons. One way to preserve peace is to observe others doing something you don't approve, and say: "It's none of my business."

Jacobs To Watch Joe Louis While Taping His Hands

Someone Has Told Maxie Schmeling's Manager That Louis Uses "Loaded Gloves" Wants Boxing Commission To Appoint Deputies To Do Bandaging Act In Coming Go

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 9.—In something that hovered dangerously between a tirade and a tantrum, Joe Louis, the prize fighter, was practically accused today of wearing "loaded" gloves by Joe Jacobs, the manager, in some of his more sensational fights since first hitting the headlines eighteen months ago. The loading, if any, he declares to have been a futile business in the dressing room, like beer at the side door of a Sunday morning. Anyhow, Jacobs says he has been tipped very reliably that such was the case, with special emphasis upon the two evenings when Louis calmly executed the great Oat, Carnera, and went over Baric like an estimate.

He, Jacobs, also says that something will be done about it at today's meeting of the Boxing commission. Meanwhile, for purposes of greater clarity, it may be stated that respectively, Jacobs is Max Schmeling's manager and Louis his opponent in the million-dollar heavyweight fight at the Yankee stadium, nine days hence.

Ten days hence would be a little too late, Jacobs added, reasonably. That's why he plans to make his play today.

"All I ask is that the commission appoint deputies to bandage each fighter's hands," he went on. That's not demanding a great deal in a spot like this, especially as I have been tipped by a man who ought to know that I'm never to take my eyes off the operation while they're bandaging Louis' hands. That's enough for me.

"I saw Louis hit Carnera for that first knockdown and the big guy looked like he had been tapped with a monkey wrench. The punch changed the whole shape of his face. As for Baric, he had to be tough to avoid being assassinated."

Doesn't Make Sense
"Yet, only a short time before, Louis went all the way into the ninth round with a big trampoline like Hans Birkie in Pittsburgh and was so bad they booed him. And look at Nate Brown going ten rounds with him in Detroit, a few months before the Carnera fight. That doesn't make sense . . . and then again maybe it does."

"That's what I want to find out about. I'll be in there protecting myself, of course, but it looks like a good spot for the Boxing commission to do a little protecting, too. That's what it's under oath to do."

And, the writer felt impelled to add, there's no one who respects an oath more than Mr. Jacobs . . . especially a good, round oath.

George Washington gave us our ideals. He demanded liberty and made a million dollars.

Yanks Increase League Lead

Topple Browns As Red Sox And Tigers Split In Twin Bill

BLANTON TAMES BROOKLYN 2 TO 1

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Yankees find themselves face-to-face with a grand opportunity to increase their American League lead against the lowly Browns while the second place Red Sox are engaged in a throat-cutting series with the third place Tigers, and the Yanks are taking advantage of the situation.

They lost no time in asserting themselves against the Browns yesterday in the series opener, as Joe Dimaggio took occasion to come out of his brief hitting slump. The result was a 12 to 3 victory.

Having been held hitless through two games and 11 times at bat against Cleveland pitchers, Dimaggio made three hits in five tries, including his fifth home run and a triple and drove in five runs.

Lead Boosted
That victory boosted the Yank lead over the Red Sox to three full games, the Bostonians splitting even in a twin bill with the Tigers. Lefty Grove won the opener for the Sox, to make it nine wins for the season, with Tommy Bridges the loser, 6 to 3. Jimmy Foxx hit his 14th homer and manager Joe Cronin added one as aids to Boston.

Elder Auker took the nightcap for the Tigers, 12 to 7, six runs in the sixth sewing it up and driving Fritz Ostermuller from the hill.

In the only other American league game, Pinkie Higgins singled in the 10th with the bases loaded to give the Athletics a 5 to 4 victory over the White Sox.

The Cardinals were idle, but increased their National league lead over the Giants to 3 1/2 games as the Reds halted the New Yorkers, 7 to 3, with Paul Derringer pitching.

Lonnie Frey booted an easy grounder in the ninth with the bases full to enable the Pirates to score a run and beat the Dodgers, 2 to 1, and French pitched the Cubs to an eight-hit shutout over the Phillies, 3 to 0. Bucky Walters allowed the Cubs only seven hits, but his mates made three errors.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Trading quieted down in the stock market today, but the general list maintained levels well above previous closing prices.

Merchandise shares continued to set the pace, with Allied Stores common and preferred, Gimbel common and Associated Dry Goods at new peaks for the year.

Pivotal issues, including most of the rails, steels and motors, were little changed on the day, showing small fractional gains.

Union Pacific ran up more than a point.

Oils were neglected. Utilities, coppers, farm implements and avia-tions were moderately improved.

Bonds were led upward by key industrials and a few second-grade rail liens. Grains and cotton were higher.

Begins On Monday

ties Are Planned

ELLWOOD CITY, June 9.—The woods in Wurttemberg are full of Indians as yesterday Girl Scouts turned Indians for their week of left by bus for the Girl Scout cabin yesterday morning, accompanied by their counselors.

Upon arriving in camp, the girls were divided into units according to their ages, and began at once to settle down for a week of fun in their own particular part of the wood. Outdoor fireplaces were built, equipment was made from sticks and bark and one unit, the Crow Indians, even had a full sized teepee.

The group of older scouts became the "settlers" and began their activities which will center around improving the cabin. The interior is being paneled with beaver board, under the direction of Mr. Bert Fisher assisted by Jack Hough, and rustic furniture is to be made.

During the afternoon every unit took time out to get together for

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROCOCIOUS CHILDREN
THE SMART BABY, stays smart. So reported Prof. Paul Witty, of Northwestern university, before the recent meeting of the Mid-west Psychological association, which, as member, I attended. He traced the progress during the first ten years of 50 "gifted" children. All of them as pre-school children displayed Stanford-Binet intelligence ratings of 140 plus. All these children had fulfilled their babyhood promises physically and mentally. While they excelled in science and mathematics they did not excel in literary or music talent. There was no evidence also, of creative intelligence, due, perhaps, to standardization of home and school life.

These "prodigy" children, he learned, were apt to be a little "difficult" at home and school. Ten out of fifty, indeed, were apparently maladjusted. The trouble with some of these was that things seemed to come too easy for them in the elementary school.

Every now and then I run across a "gifted" child failing at school, failing because the school work has been too easy to challenge his efforts.

teacher of a mental tester stumbles upon a high I. Q."

Behavior Problem of Girl

A mother writes me concerning some behavior problems of a daughter six years old. "She rated 12 years of age when she was two years and ten months old, could add, subtract, multiply and divide and completed primer, first, second and third readers before entering school at the age of five years eight months. Could read at the age of three years. Has a capacity to spell 2,000 words, large and small. The number of letters means nothing to her.... Entering school in September, she was promoted on the fifth day from the first to the second grade. Yoy may have read of our daughter and seen her picture in the paper, as she received a great deal of publicity before starting to school."

Parents, who have a precocious child will not, if they want to do best for their child's welfare and happiness, have his picture or news about his precocity published. Nor will they even brag about him to their friends. They and he will pray for humility, and strive to help heaven to give an answer to their prayers. Too much to expect, perhaps. Grandma Nature is disposed to exploit gifted children. She should be ashamed of herself.

RELEASED ON BAIL

Andy Stealk, arrested on a charge of suspicion, following a fight in which Tony Minski received lacerations of the head and was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, was released on a cash bail of $10.00 by Mayor Charles E. McGrath yesterday. Minski is yet in the hospital.

Yet the only thing that keeps any man from being a tyrant is the fact that he can't get away with it.
